

First Georgian Dental Innovation Forum

The First Georgian Dental Innovation Forum was on May 29, 30, and 31. It was perfectly organized by the President of the Georgian Dental Association, Professor Ketevan Gogilashvili, and Professor Wladimer Margvelashvili, with the participation of Georgian Universities and the active support of Dental Dealer Niko Bezhuashvili Dent Stal, in the distinguished presence of His Excellency the Minister of Health, Dr. Mikheil Sarjveladze, and his deputy, Dr. Irakli Sasania.

On behalf of the ERO, the President emphasized the distinguished presence that the role of the dental profession is in helping the population and decision makers to achieve health through good oral health, and Dental associations need to be in the forefront to identify challenges and opportunities and advocate for the benefit of our patients and our profession and our governments.

ERO believes that the time is now right for developing a new model for oral health care, which considers oral health as an integral part of general health and addresses the need and demand of our populations and the right of each individual to good oral health.

This three-day conference, with those distinguished speakers, fully demonstrated how to address these issues from all current and possible future perspectives. We certainly returned home professionally enriched.

All Scientific Dental Topics and procedures, supported by the dental industries and Dental Dealers are the most important moment for dental professionals for full updating with the new perspective of dental profession.

New challenges for our profession are knocking at the doors and we can't avoid them: Topics as education, training, continuing education, management of practices, risk management, bureaucracy, medical dental market, free movement of goods and professionals, Medical Device Regulation.

The Minister agreed, so the Professional Challenge is open for All of Us. Farewell to next year with the same great deserved success.
